

COMMUNITY

They Say It Takes a Village

Talking Points

- ❖ In the feature article, One Conscious Path in Parenting, Joseph Chilton Pearce remembers sociologist Robert Wolff saying “you have no idea how much we have lost.” Lisa Bauman starts with an intuition that our community was stronger in the distant past. Like Wolff and Pearce, Bauman feels as if our modern world has lost the concept of community, and we need to find our way back. Many of us sense this loss and search for it in our modern society.
- ❖ Bauman asks us, as a community of readers connected by a similar desire, to “show love, not judgment.” She asks us to reject all of the negativity and judgment we receive from main-stream media, and instead focus on helping each other rebuild a sense of community.
